Keep your device safe from remote access apps.

A fraudster may try to impersonate as a trustworthy entity over call (telephone/mobile/IVR) and attempt to acquire your sensitive information, such as:

- · CVV/OTP/Card PIN/Internet Password
- · Financial account details & personal information

The fraudster may try tricks like requesting download of remote access mobile applications, for eg. AnyDesk or a similar app that helps connect one mobile device to another.

Once downloaded, a code/OTP is generated on your device, which the fraudster asks you to share, followed by a request to grant permissions. Your mobile will virtually be in the hands of the fraudster with all your confidential data.

The fraudster can steal and carry out fraudulent transactions via mobile banking or payments related apps using UPI (Unified Payment Interface), the real-time payment system platform.

How can you protect yourself?

Refrain from downloading any mobile applications suggested by third party.

Always read the terms and conditions before downloading any application on your mobile device.

Never login to any payment related application if you suspect that your device is compromised.

Don't click on links sent by unknown senders and always visit a website by typing the URL in the address bar.

Update your latest mobile number in bank records and change your PIN/passwords frequently.

Review your credit card and bank statements regularly.

Citibank or its employees will never ask for your Card number/ Card expiry date/CVV/OTP/Internet Password. Do not share these details with anyone over phone or e-mail.

In case of any suspicious transaction, report to Citibank immediately to prevent further misuse.
